

Course-pacs are comprehensive digital resources containing detailed lesson overviews, ready-to-use student booklets and interactive visual displays for use with Smartboard technology. They provide teachers with effective tools to engage students in critical thinking as they develop understanding of the prescribed subject matter.

Available soon for teaching Alberta Social Studies 10 and Social Studies 20

Course-pacs bring it all together for teachers by combining planning, delivery and resource access in a comprehensive set of digital documents. Lesson delivery using interactive whiteboard technology allows for easy storage, access and immediate display of teaching materials, interactive displays, assignment samples, web links, videos, and student and class work.

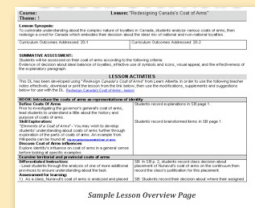

Digital Lessons guide teachers and students through course material in an interactive and critically thoughtful manner. Each module includes an Intro page that sets out the overarching learning outcome, Agenda pages from which all learning activities are developed, and various Activity pages that provide the instructions and resources needed to carry out the lesson.

Complementing each Digital Lesson is a Student Booklet which provides opportunities for group work, notes of class discussions, and management of course content. These Student Booklets help to engage students in thinking critically about the course concepts as they are introduced through the linked resources and displays.

SAMPLE ONLY

A Lesson Overview accompanies each lesson and provides teacher directions for meeting learning objectives, facilitating skill- or content-based activities and assessing student learning. The overviews also list supplementary materials to support lesson modification or extension of learning for differentiated instruction.
